Legion Member

St. Margaret's Altar Society Elect Officers

The number of members who have paid dues for 1955 has exceeded the entire membership of 1954, according to a statement this week by Tom Bressler, chairman of the Membership committee of the Clement R. Bentemps Post 139.

Bressler stated that the 1955 membership drive went over the top on Nov. 10.

Considering the natural high loss of members of our Post due to deaths and removals from the community, this represents an actual increase of more than 30 brand new members," Bressler said.

He expressed the fact that membership in the local Post would reach 350 before the end of the year.

"The quota of 350 may appear small to those outside of veterans organizations," Bressler said, "but it is almost double the proportionate percentage of the average Legion Post throughout the country."

The high ratio of members of the Legion in Hancock County is in direct relation to the activities of the local Post in service to the veterans and to the Community, he concluded.

to telephone customers and others in the area who have helped with the work. He requested all who expected to attend to mail their acceptance promptly so those in charge will know how many to provide for.

According to Conway Dabney, Southern Bell manager in the Gulfport area, the work is proceeding according to schedule and the new network should be ready in ample time for the celebration.

"Most important feature of the new project," says Dabney, "is the new rural dial switching unit nearing completion at Logtown. This expensive and extremely useful unit is the 25th of its kind to be installed in Mississippi since December, 1949."

"The unit will be connected by means of trunk lines to the Bay St. Louis exchange," he concluded, "and along with all the telephones connected to it will be considered part of the exchange at Bay St. Louis. The monthly rates paid by these customers will entitle them to an unlimited number of calls to all other local telephones connected to the exchange without additional charge."

Total cost of the project is stated by J. M. Phillips of Jackson, State Manager for Southern Bell, to be in excess of $50,000. He says it will provide over 130 new telephones for homes and business houses in the areas it is to serve.

"It is part of an overall rural program for Mississippi," Phillips concluded, "in which our company has invested over $15 million since 1945 to increase the state's rural telephones more than fourfold—from 8,355 in 1945 to more than 46,000 today."

AGRICULTURAL CENSUS

It is important that farmers co-operates fully with the Agricultural Census takers. The information gathered in the farm census is highly useful in determining market needs, farm income averages and needed expansion in production. Remember this. All information given a census taker is held in strict confidence. Federal law forbids giving this information to any person other than a sworn census employee. It cannot be used for investigation, taxation or regulation.

The information gathered in the farm census is used only to provide summary figures such as totals, averages and percents.

POULTRY MANAGEMENT

Winter management is now necessary in poultry production. Make sure that your poultry houses are closed during cold nights and on cold days keep the houses dry and free from drafts.

However, enough ventilation is needed to keep the air in the houses dry. When moisture begins to form on the rafters and rafter under the roof, more ventilation is needed. Deep litter during cold weather helps; keep the poultry house warm and drier. However, to get the best results from use of deep litter, you must use plenty of ventilation.

Lights in the poultry house are timely now. You should provide 13 to 14 hours of light daily to laying hens.

The light has an effect on the egg producing organs of the hens. This will help increase during high period winter period.

Remember to keep plenty of fresh water and fresh feed available to birds at all times.

ORCHARDS

Now is the time to get your nursery stock for planting a new orchard and for adding to your established orchards.

November and December are the best times to plant apples, peaches, plums, pears, pecans and grapes.

to maintain a philosophy that is traditionally American.

Dave Pingrey of Prairies, an outstanding cattleman of Mississippi, speaking on how to maintain a foundation herd after three year's drought, said that year round management in planning is a "must."

Many Mississippi cattlemen have learned this lesson, he said. Permanent pastures properly fertilized will provide grazing in the warm months and good winter pasture are necessary for efficient calf feeding.

Resolutions favoring school segregation, 90 per cent parity proposed for cotton and a realistic national cotton allotment we among those enacted by voting delegates to the convention.

The education resolution recommended support of the constitutional amendment to permit the legislature as a last resort to abolish public schools in the event it is the only way to maintain segregation. The vote on the constitutional amendment is scheduled for December.

The resolution further states, "We insist that no building program begin until a reasonable assurance can be given that segregated schools will continue."

Other resolutions (1) opposed any adverse change in the present status of the TVA program, (2) recommended legislation to strengthen the authority of the public service commission in the matter of telephone rates and (3) recommended changes in the law to limit terms of members of the board of trustees of institutions of higher learning to one twelve year term in addition to resolutions covering various agricultural commodities.

BAY HIGH FLOGGED 31-12 BY LUCEDALE AT HOMECOMING

A hard driving first quarter Bay High Tiger squad was stopped and dropped back for a 31-12 defeat at the hands of the Lucedale Panthers Friday night at St. Stanislaus Stadium.

The Homecoming - 31 vs. 12. Bay High score on a 93 yard march, which knocked for another touchdown in the opening stanza, but then fell away to Lucedale and their star halfback Fryfogle.

Bay High's opening kick off went only 17 yards and Lucedale took over on their own 30. They advanced to the Tiger 49, but the Rebels punted deep down into Bay High territory with the ball rolling dead on the 6 yard line. Six quick hops brought this ball up to the 26. Cole's quick toss to Adam put on the 35. Hugo "Go Go" Favre then broke through the Panther line for 5 yard pickup down to the 5 yard line of Lucedale. Cole also stopped on a quarterback sneak, but on the next play he handed off to Favre, who went over for a touchdown. Adam's attempt at the extra point failed.

Lucedale ran the kickoff back to the 34. Bruce Fryfogle crashed through the Tiger line for a 28 yard canter and another 11 yard run to place the ball on Bay High's 32. He then tossed a perfect pass into the end zone to Hatcher, but the ball was dropped. Lucedale went down to the 23 where Bay High took over on downs.

Favre brought the ball up to the 30. Two plays later he broke through for a 53 yard jaunt down to Lucedale's 14. A 5 yard run and a 5 yard penalty against the Panthers put the ball on the 4. Holden got to the three as the first quarter ended. Quarterback Donald Cole fumbled on the opening play of the second period and Lucedale recovered on the 3.

The Panthers went up to their own 26 where they punted to Bay High's 46.

Two short plunges placed the ball on the 49. Cole faded back and passed downfield to Adam, but Fry-drive was climaxed.

Kent Seller sent a long, high kick to Lucedale and was taken on the 27 by Hack Langley, who went the complete distance of 32 yards to score another Lucedale touchdown.

The extra point was low and the Panthers led 19-12.

The Panther kickoff was returned to the 42, but Bay High had passed it and was closing three plays and 26 yards down to Lucedale's 26.

BAHIA GRASS, IMPORTANT TO BEEF DAIRY INDUSTRIES, WAS FIRST INTRODUCED IN HANCOCK COUNTY IN 1948

BY JAMES L. BISHOP

Bahia grass is a common term used among the farmers in the Hancock County Soil Conservation District. Bahia grass, so important to the beef and dairy farmer today, was first introduced to the District farmers by the Soil Conservation District in 1948 by planting a 5-acre seed increase plot on Alfred E. Smith's farm, located 1 mile west of Sellers School on the Poplarville-Gulfport highway.

Since 1948, Smith harvested Bahia grass seed, planted more land in Bahia and sold used seed to his neighbors to plant more than 400 acres to pasture.

Alfred E. Smith, better known as "Ford" to his neighbors is a dairy farmer and lives on a 103-acre farm. Smith, a medium size man, friendly and in his middle fifties, helped organize the Hancock County Soil Conservation District during 1945 and served two terms as District Commissioner. He was the first Hancock County farmer to sign up and have a conservation plan made on his farm.

Since then, he has made much progress in establishing the needed conservation practices on his land, side-dressed with 100 pounds of ammonium per acre, then plowed out changing his row crop farming to heavy duty crop rotation on Class II land, permanent pastures and hay crops on (steep) Class III and Class IV land.

Smith said, "I have been planting corn and crimson clover in the same field where my 5-acre Bahia grass seed increase plot is.

As this idea of applying the ammonium seed to the corn and to a neighbor to side-dress his corn.

In two weeks the drought set in and I was watching my corn very close, and I noticed the corn following the five-year Bahia did not wilt for the first two weeks after the drought hit it but the corn planted in the three-year corn-crimson clover just wilted down and didn't grow.

"I began to feel sorry for the corn which followed the three-year corn-crimson clover plot. I went to the barn and found I had five 100-pound sacks of 6-8-8 fertilizer left. I went back to the field and applied 100 pounds of the 6-8-8 per acre to the corn in the plot where the three-year corn-crimson clover was planted, hoping the extra fertilizer would help the corn to mature if it received rain.

"For two more weeks it did not rain. By this time the corn following the five-acre Bahia grass plot began to tassel, while the other corn in the other plot didn't show any signs of tasseling. Then it had a small stalk and the color of the leaves was much lighter than the corn following the Bahia grass.

Smith was very much interested to see if there would be any appreciable difference in crop yields following the Bahia grass rotation.

He agreed to use the same application of fertilizer for both plots of corn.

"This is the amount of fertilizer which I applied on each plot of corn per acre," said Smith. "One ton of barnyard manure, 200 pounds of 6-8-8 commercial fertilizer. Then I planted 8 hybrid corn, spacing in 3-foot rows, 8 inches on the row."

"When the corn came up I didn't get a good stand. Some skips I down to my farm to make the

SPORTS VIEWS and REVIEWS

BY CHRISTOPHER BELL

Note the Date. St. Stanislaus' final game of the week clinched the class B-BB pennant and assured themselves the position of host team in the league playoff at the end of the season.

The Rebels mauled Pass Christian 40-0 Saturday night by scoring twice in the first and final quarters and one in the second and third.

It was the Rebel's sixth win against state setbacks. They have a conference record of 5-1 and will meet St. Stanislaus Friday in an unbroken game. The Rockaways have really found their mark.

St. Stanislaus' opponents will be Notre Dame and the Rebels edged OLV 7-0 while SCS mauled OLV 33-0.

—cpb—

Reserve Wildcats will meet Hammond, La. for the regional class AA title.

Reserve boasted that Hammond wouldn't play them in a playoff game when both teams were undefeated but not scheduled to play. Reserve was tied by St.

Aloysius which set them a half game behind Hammond.

D'Iberville Warriors took their own invitational basketball tournament for the third consecutive year.

The St. Martin sextet registered their second straight year in winning the tournament by defeating

Brown 62-49 in the finals.

D'Iberville defeated St. John's of Gulfport 47-38 in the final game.

The two victories clinched one of the largest four-day tournaments held along the gulf coast.

—cpb—

Bay High let another game slip through their hands when Friday night they lost the opportunity to have a twelve point lead over Lucendale. Instead they scored only one in the first half and had their defense completely fall apart in the second half.

This was the fifth game that Bay

High has lost that could and should have won. They stumbled away the Nicholls game, lost to OLV in the final minutes, and also to Poplarville on a last minute drive.

Shaken Petal upset Bay High and then Lucedale came from behind to defeat the Tigers.

—cpb—

Yesterday the Savannah Invitational Basketball Tournament got underway with twenty teams battling for top honors.

The pre-season tourney will be climaxed Saturday night with the two final games.

The Green Wave of Sellers is Hancock County's only entry but the lads are a top contender for the title.

PICKS OF THE WEEK —

BAY HIGH over PICAYUNE

The Tigers have had bad luck and with just an early break they should edge the Maroon Tide. It's the Tigers by 1 point.

STANISLAUS over NOTRE DAME

Just a picnic the Rockchaws are now having. Let's take the "roling rocks" by about 23 points.

LONG BEACH over PASS

The Bearcats aren't fading quite as fast as the Pirates. Long Beach is a heavy 25 point favorite for this one.

Although Picayune sports a better record the game could go either way. If Bay High can get and keep an early lead they will defeat Picayune. If the Maroon Tide scores first Bay High will again fade away.

ALVIN J. WEINBERG

On Sunday afternoon of this week Bay St. Louis lost one of its most beloved citizens when Alvin J. Weinberg, was called to his final reward after an illness that extended over several months.

Alvin, as he was known to just about every person in Bay St. Louis, young or old, white or colored, was the druggist at Foley Drug Company where he was employed ever since it was opened for business in Bay St. Louis many years ago. But Alvin was not just another druggist. He was everybody's friend—a truly "good Samaritan" who tended the wounds and ailments of all regardless of race, creed or color, with never a merecism in thought or deed.

Alvin was quick to nature kind and considerate, gentle and benevolent, with never a harsh or unkind word to or about anyone. Although not a man of means, he was of kindness and his charities knew no bounds. Through his thoughtfulness and his ministrations to the sick and afflicted he relieved many of their sufferings and without doubt saved the lives of many.

Many a Bay St. Louis mother has called on Alvin when a doctor was not immediately available, to help out in case of an accident or the sudden illness of their children, and always he was ready and willing to do what he could to comfort them.

And now that this good man has been called from this earth to the great beyond, it is our sincere hope that God, in His infinite goodness, will bestow upon him His greatest blessings and the rewards he so justly deserves.

MOBILE COMMUNICATIONS CENTER STATE'S ANSWER IN EMERGENCY

Recently two convicted killers awaiting sentence of death, who escaped from their confinement, caused apprehension and worry throughout the entire state until their capture and return to the Hinds County jail by officers of the law.

The most people the mechanics of throwing up roadblocks in an effort to prevent the escape of these men, Miner Sorber and Gerald Gallego, from the area in which they were believed to be confined did not mean anything. But to the individuals of the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol, short of police and other members concerned with locating and capturing them, the problem of knowing just where every road block was situated, who was there who was in charge, what persons and what pieces were available; all these were items of supreme importance.

The emergency communications center, recently developed by the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol in cooperation with the State Civil Defense Council proved to be the answer to one all-important phase of this man hunt. This was a centrally controlled and co-ordinated system of communications. Communications have not always been readily available in Mississippi field disasters occurred.

The Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol for a number of years has maintained a small portable outfit in a trailer which could be used in the event of a disaster and from which it is possible to maintain communications within a limited area. The ice storm in '51, the hurricane in '57, the recent tornado in Vicksburg in December of 1953, have served to emphasize the terrific need for a central communications control and operating center.

Long before the Vicksburg disaster occurred the Mississippi Civil Defense Council in cooperation with Colonel T. B. Birdsong and officers of the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol began planning for such a communications center. This unit is now a fact.

It has been seen and examined by thousands of Mississippi people, both adults and boys and girls, and many are aware of the tremendously vital part this mobile communications center will play in times of emergency.

The development and use of this unit illustrates very definitely a conclusive fact about Civil Defense which has not been understood by many persons. That fact is that the Civil Defense Program is equally as vital to bringing the resources of a community, area, district or state together in time of disaster, whether that disaster be the escape of convicted murderers or a tornado swooping down on a
